SOLE MANUFACTURERS OF
W. C. ALLISON'S
PATENT JOINT
Oil Well Tubing.

This Superior Tubing is furnished with heavy sockets, and is cut with a vanishing screw thread, corresponding exactly with the thread in the socket, so that when screwed up it has a bearing the whole length of the joint; and the shoulder of a deep thread on the tube at the end of the socket obviates the liability to break at that point from the vibration caused by the action of the pump.
Each length and socket is stamped with our trade mark, and is carefully tested before shipment with a hydraulic pressure of 1,500 pounds to the square inch.

Champion Sewing Machine Trendle.

To the Ladies of Titusville and vicinity:

Health, happiness, prosperity, and the enjoyment of every blessing is what you are entitled to in this world. Hence you are particularly interested in anything calculated to acquire this desideratum. Therefore your attention is particularly directed to PROF. LUFKIN'S PATENT CHAMPION SEWING MACHINE TREADLE, the object of which is to meet a demand universally felt by every woman of America. It is an improvement in the Sewing Machine Treadles now commonly in use, which the production of the CHAMPION TREADLE has effectually accomplished, although innumerable professional men have attempted the same thing and signally failed. The CHAMPION TREADLE gives alternate movement to the feet, relieving a constant strain on a particular set of muscles—caused by the use of the old style Sewing Machine Treadles—and calling into action the natural and stronger muscles of the feet and limbs, producing an easy, natural and uniform motion, thereby enabling an operator to run a machine day in and day out, without any fatigue to the mind or body, and effectually preventing the pains and aches so common with female sewing machine operators, particularly married women. To all those who have a desire to prolong their natural life, and prevent the pains and aches so common with the women of the present generation, who use sewing machines, we cheerfully and conscientiously recommend the use of PROF LUFKIN'S PATENT SEWING MACHINE TREADLE. If you wish to test the merits of the CHAMPION TREADLE, send your address to G. A. BALDWIN, Titusville Post Office, and the Treadle will be attached to your machine, free of charge, till you are satisfied with the trial. nov24 1w

John McDevitt.

THE BURNED AND CHARRED REMAINS OF THE RENOWNED BILLIARD PLAYER FOUND IN THE RUINS OF THE TRIBUNE BUILDING—SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF DECEASED.

From the Chicago Tribune.

At about ten o'clock yesterday morn- some workmen engaged in removing the debris from the Tribune building came upon the charred remains of a man who perished in the great fire, and whose body has lain concealed in the ruins ever since. It was found in the sidewalk area on the Madison street front, and was consumed beyond recognition by any external appearances, the legs being burned off to the hip, the arms to the shoulders, the upper portion of the head gone, and the entire remaining portion charred, blistered and blackened. Inasmuch as this spot was the last place where John McDevitt, the well-known billiardist, was seen alive, the theory at once suggested itself that the remains were those of that much-lamented gentleman. This idea was strengthened after the body had been removed to the morgue, by a close personal examination, which revealed the fact that the upper teeth were false, as were McDevitt's, and were set on a plate of vulcanized rubber, although the coincidence here is not certain, as no one, excepting his wife or the dentist, would be likely to be informed on this subject. The clothing was burned almost beyond recognition, excepting the shirt bosom, which was almost uninjured, the supposition being that the falling in of the sidewalk stones and walls prevented further burning. The shirt-bosom had no studs, being fastened by ordinary mother-of-pearl buttons. In the vest pockets were found a watch so blackened and fused that it was impossible to determine either its metal or peculiarities of construction; and also two bits of postal currency, and a printed circular.

Pending the result of a thorough investigation by the coroner, there can be no certainty as to the identification of the remains, and it may be that they can never be positively identified, so slight and intangible are all remaining traces of individuality; but enough is known to warrant the gravest apprehensions that it was under the sidewalk area of the Tribune building—where he was seen by several persons, among them two attaches of this paper, some time before the building burned—that John McDevitt met his death. Like many others on that night of appalling terror and confusion, when, for several hours, not a drop of water could be had to drink, McDevitt was, although able to walk about, in no condition to realize danger or seek for safety, and refusing, as men are apt to do under such circumstances, to yield to the earnest suggestions of friends anxious for his welfare, he stubbornly persisted in remaining in the area until the flames cut off all chances of escape. There are conflicting rumors and statements concerning the whereabouts of McDevitt at the time the Tribune building burned, but as his immediate personal friends are firm in the belief that he perished there, the following sketch of his career, in the Billiard Cue for November, will be found of interest:

"The deceased was born in January, 1843, at Vernon, Ind., and played his first game of billiards in 1857. He first acquired distinction as the conqueror of Wm. Goldthwait in a match for $1,000 a side, at Cincinnati, May 31, 1865, his sole noteworthy contest prior to this having been with Frank Parker, whom he defeated for $250 a side. He next, for a purse of $250, gave Cyrille Dion the odds of 350 points in 1,500, winning by 34 Playing Deery for the championship, he was beaten 355 in 1,500. He next played Goldthwait for a purse of $150, and won by 194 in 500; and shortly afterwards was beaten about 200 in 500, for $100, by an amateur whom he attempted to discount. Playing Joseph Dion for the American championship at Montreal, he was beaten 223 in 1,500. In the same year he played Goldthwait in Boston, for $500 a side, winning by a score of 1,500 to 926. The return game, also, for $500 a side, was played in this city, Goldthwait winning by 363. He next played the late Wm. N. Wicks for $250 a side, winning by 21 in 100—three-ball game. Playing again for the championship, Joseph Dion defeated him at Montreal by a score of 1,500 to 816. This was June 10, 1867. In December following, he went again to Montreal, and this time won the championship, defeating Joseph Dion by a score of 1,500 to 1,488. January 8, 1868, he played Goldthwaite in this city for $250 a side, running 1,483 in the crotch, and winning by 1,500 to 113. In Chicago he played Melvin Foster for the championship. The game was never finished, standing 1,268 to 1,262 in favor of McDevit, when the last ball was struck. Next he played Joseph Dion for $500 a side, at Library Hall, in Chicago, and, making the marvelous run of 1,428 without crotch, won by a total of 1,500 against 407, averaging 66 2-3. On December 22 he again played Goldthwaite, also in Chicago, winning by 1,500 to 1,485. McDevit, resigning the champion cue, retired from the billiard arena. This was at the close of 1868. Being in New York at the tournament in 1869, he was prevailed upon to play Cyrille Dion for $250 a side, at the three ball game. Dion won by one point in 300. That was his last contest. McDevit was personally very popular, and in habits was long held up as a model to others in his profession. He leaves a young wife destitute.

TWENTY HOURS AT THE MASTHEAD IN A FURIOUS GALE—STATEMENT OF THE ONLY SURVIVOR OF A FOUNDERED VESSEL

The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser of Wednesday evening publishes the following particulars of the foundering of the Canadian schooner Juliette, obtained from the protest of the only survivor, Mr. William H. Thayer, which was taken before Captain E. P. Dorr, of that city: I shipped as cook and steward on the schooner Juliette, of Wallaceburg, Ontario, Captain Basset. I made several trips in her. We left Buffalo for Vermillion, Friday, November 8, at about 7 p. m. Our crew consisted of the following, viz: Albert Bassett, master; John Reed, mate; Hannegan, seaman, and three other men, (two Irishmen and one Englishman,) don't know their names. We finished loading Wednesday, November 8; the wind was not favorable to leave, and we laid there all day Thursday, November 9, wind still ahead. We sailed from Vermillion on Friday morning at 7 o'clock, November 10, bound for St. Catherines, Ontario, loaded with grind-stones in the hold, and on deck large stones, the smallest weighing 1,500 pounds, and from that size up to as large again; wind fair, fresh breeze, all sail set in the start; during the day the wind freshened and blew strong, and the sea began to make and the vessel began to make water at 1 a. m. We got dinner at 12, noon. I was called on deck at 1 p. m. (Friday) to help pump; the vessel was leaking badly, the wind was dead aft; we were running before it; the sails had been reduced—reefed down. We had two pumps, one forward and one aft; they worked well (wooden pumps). The vessel was shipping a good deal of water over the sides; our waist-boards were kept open to let the water run off. I staid at the pumps until 5 p. m. I went below to get supper. I got it ready about 6 p. m., and was waiting for the captain and crew to come and eat supper.

Our crew tried to get the stone from off the deck; we had two tier of stone on deck from abaft foremost to cabin aft. All the afternoon the crew worked and got off what stone they could; we worked sometime at throwing over the stone, and then at the pumps pumping. Those we got overboard we got over with hand-spikes and hoisting tackles. We tried to break them up with an ax and sledge, and did break some into chunks and threw them over until the sledge-handle broke. Then we could not do much with the ax, as it was too light. We all worked hard; all knew that our situation was critical in the extreme. I thought the men must eat or they would give out, and so I got supper for them as above stated. I went up and down stairs looking out. About half-past six o'clock our main boom carried away in the jaws. It was blowing hard, and the sea running all over the vessel. Just about this time, the mate, Mr. Reed, came down into the cabin. I was in my shirt sleeves, and he said, "Steward, we are going to try to beach her or to get the boat down to try to save our lives; you put on some clothes, don't dress too light nor too heavy; get yourself ready to jump." He went right on deck again. I put on extra shirt and vest and a pair of overalls, and jumped on deck quick. The vessel was heading for the beach; the captain had broken his ankle, when getting stone overboard, and was helpless; he was sitting on the skylight, right aft, between the cabin and the wheel; two men were steering the vessel for shore. The mate had a new line fast to the boat, and he sent two men forward with the other end of the line to make it fast to the fore-boom, which was off outside against the rigging. The plan was to lower the boat and let her swing clear from the vessel when she struck the beach, so that we could save ourselves and get ashore in her.

I don't think the captain or mate had any idea the vessel was so near sinking; the men came back and said they could not get forward with the line, as the jaw-end of the main boom projected out with the sail so that they could not get past it; the captain gave orders from where he sat to the mate, and told him to let the anchors go the moment she struck the breakers; we were all trying to clear away the boat, when suddenly, and without any previous warning, the vessel went down, before we could get the boat cleared away; the captain cried out, "Boys, she is gone;" I had hold of the rope with the mate that the men had taken forward to attach to the fore-boom; when the vessel went down she pitched or careened over sideways—to the port side—throwing the mate and myself down to leeward; we jumped as far as we could from the vessel into the water, to leeward, to get clear of the stones; I saw the captain pulling himself up to the weather side of the after part of the vessel as she careened over.

When the vessel settled to the bottom I seized hold of a piece of the mainsail, but the sea swept me clear, all but one hand. I was almost gone, when the returning sea brought me back, and I caught a rope swinging from aloft, and was swept up against and right on the stump of the mainboom, as it was floating attached to the mast, a distance off. The sea then swept the boom in against the mainmast and main-rigging. I caught hold of the main-rigging, and climbed up the main-crosstrees. The main masthead was about twelve to fifteen feet above the water when the vessel was on the bottom. The mate had hold of the canvas with me at first, but he soon disappeared; I don't know how or when; he must have been swept off by the sea. I heard him say something in a low tone of voice, but I did not hear what he said. I clung to the mast all night; the sea would just come to my feet when I sat down on the cross-trees. I think one of the men got into the fore-crosstrees. I thought I saw one of them over there. If so he must have been washed out and away, as the sea would reach and sweep over the fore cross-trees. It was a hard gale all night; the sea ran very high, and my position was a very critical one, clinging to the main topmast rigging, with the wind blowing a gale from the westward.

I was very cold, not being warmly dressed, but after a while I got so benumbed that I began to get drowsy. It was an awful long night to me. I thought the morning and daylight would never come; but it did come at last and I saw the land. I thought I was about two miles off the land, with the water about fifty feet deep (as I afterward learned). I could see the people on the beach; they were looking at me with a glass, but could not aid me; the sea was too rough. I waited until about 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when five noble young men manned a flat-boat or skiff, three of them to pull, one to bail the boat, and one to steer. The man steering, and one of the men pulling were sailors.—There was a good large sea running; one of the oars they used belonged to the Juliette, and it floated ashore and was picked up on the beach. They pulled the boat up under the cross-trees and I jumped in. They landed me on the beach after being nineteen or twenty hours clinging in the cross-trees. It was a most wonderful escape from death. I was the only survivor of seven persons comprising the crew of the Juliette that had left Vermillion only the morning previously in good health and spirits.

I desire publicly to express my thanks to H. W. Gage, Samuel Foster, James Daniels, Everett Harris and Walter Church, the five brave young men, who, with a poor boat, came out to rescue me at the risk of their lives. I was treated with the greatest kindness by Mr. Solomon Sweatland, a farmer living at Madison, Ohio. He and his family were very kind to me indeed.

Another Mine Sunk.

THE CITY OF SCRANTON IN DANGER FROM A FALLEN SHAFT.

A Scranton correspondent of the New York Times writes of date November 23d: Olive six at 5 this city was sunk several inches this morning, in consequence of a cave-in in the Pine Brook shaft, within five squares of the main street. Neat and comfortable dwellings have been put up on Olive street, walks built, shade trees set out and all the surroundings of pleasant homes provided, but no sooner has this outlay of money been made and these improvements completed than out goes the bottom, cracking the surface like splintered glass, breaking open the foundation walls and twisting buildings out of all reasonable shape.

The occurrence has naturally created the wildest excitement, for now that we are following the example of Hyde Park, people begin to wonder if the coal mines are going to drop us into mother earth. The fact is that the whole mining region is alarmed, as it is known that in scarcely any of the mines is proper care observed in placing props in the galleries and shafts.

The confession of a man at Grand Tunnel as being one of six who fired the Avondale breaker failed to create the least sensation in this city two weeks ago. An Irishman died in Bellevue in this city who, before expiring, reiterated the very same confession. The general public do not place any reliance upon the statements made. The following is the story as told by a Williksbarre correspondent of the Republican:

"Since the loss of the Avondale coal-breaker by fire, and the additional terrible loss of 106 lives from the effect upon the ventilation of the mine, there has been endless and fruitless speculation as to its cause, and while the story which reaches us comes from no authoritive source, it is still so generally circulated that we feel justified in giving it for what it may be worth. A man who lived somewhere near Grand Tunnel, died from the effect of small-pox last Friday night. In his last moments he said to those about him that there was something on his mind which troubled him, and he could not die at rest with himself until he told it. He went on to say that the Steuben (Avondale) breaker was never fired by accident, but that he was of a party of six who fired it. Then, giving his own name, he undertook to give others, but could only articulate what was understood to be "Michael," when a fainting fit attacked him, from which he did not rally, dying shortly after. It will, of course, never be known what he intended to divulge, but he has certainly left enough behind him to confirm the belief of some who have held that the burning of the breaker was through foul means, and it may open the way to find out whether there is really any foundation for the belief."

The Children's Hour.

Now that so many families are settling down in their homes for the sober and serious work of the year, we would like to make a suggestion in the interest of the little ones. Why not, in their behalf, set apart an hour each day, to be defiantly known as "The Children's Hour," and to be made as pleasant and as useful to them as the combined resources of a Christian household will permit?

The very best hour for such a purpose will be that immediately following an early tea, or (better still) a late dinner. Then the whole family will be together; and the older members will need rest and recreation, which they will best secure by giving themselves—

Titusville Morning Herald

Some papers are clamoring for the recall or removal of our Minister to England, General Schenck. The ground of complaint is, that he has allowed his name to be used as director of some Western Mining Company, having an office abroad. What if he has? Is there any law against such a proceeding? But we want some better authority than a London paper. It seems to be the disposition of some journals to hang General Schenck first, and to try him afterwards. But General Schenck has deserved too well of his country as a statesman and a soldier, to be condemned unheard and to be degraded, as a man of honor. We believe that, when all the facts are known, General Schenck will be found to have done nothing forbidden by diplomatic regulations, or the laws of honor. We can afford to wait.

THE President has the reputation of knowing how to keep a secret. But he will be the first President that ever outwitted the reporters if he can keep back his message from the public till the meeting of Congress. The press consider it legitimate enterprise to buy up a copyist or compositor, and so obtain an advance copy of the President's message. But we doubt if they succeed against the strategy of Grant.

ALEXIS is making a favorable impression wherever he goes. The way he is run after and feted by the fashionable society of the Eastern cities shows that we have a first-rate capacity for monarchical institutions, to-wit: a love and homage of rank. Undoubtedly, our Government owes the Russian Prince every hospitality and attention, as the representative of a friendly power.

It is understood that the message will recommend an abolition of the all internal taxes, except on spirits, malt liquors, tobacco, in every form. A general recommendation is made of the revision of the tariff, although no articles are specified for a reduction and abolition of duties. It is, however, suggested that these only should be touched which can be included in the revision with the least injury to the country. No material change in the Indian policy will be recommended. The message will allude briefly to the Ku-Klux. It will be left to the Attorney General to report at long h on the question. The result of the labors of the Joint High Commission will be a subject of congratulation.

What further measures will be taken respecting the recent campaign in Corea, have not yet definitely determined. A strong policy, however, is indicated. The punishment of Coreans for the murder of the wrecked American seamen, is considered completed.

He says Connolly is confident of vindicating himself, and denies the story that he has any intention of going to Europe.

THE COTTON SUPPLY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.

The following estimate of the supply of cotton from all parts of the world for the year ending September, 30th, 1872, is from the most reliable source: Crop of the United States, 3 225,000 bales; supply from the East Indies, 150,000; Brazil, 550,000; Egypt, 330,000; from other countries, 250 000. Add to the above excess of stock in European ports, 254,000 bales; excess in United States ports, 45,000 bales; in spinners' hands, 300,000 bales, making the total supply for the year 6,479,000 bales. Allowing that the consumption for the entire year will be at the rate of 125,000 bales per week, which rate can only be reduced by extremely low process, there would be on hand at the end of the year 239,000 bales.

TERRIBLE STORMS.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 27.

The following dispatch was received by the Hearld this evening from Cottonwood: Since the last report the storms have not in the least abated, but, if possible, are more fearful than ever. Parties who have been here for the last two winters say they never knew such terrific storm in the canon. They have not seen the sun since Sunday, the 19th. The wind is blowing, the snow drifting and trees are falling; everything if gloomy, and work is generally suspended. Though there has been no slide in the last four hours, they are momentarily expected, and especially on the Emma Hill. All hope of finding the body of C Morrison is now given up until spring. His wife is almost distracted. Since the slides of Friday last no trains have passed up or down the canon.

Another slide in Cottonwood is reported, by which four men lost their lives in the snow. At Alta the snow is ten feet deep, and at last accounts it was still storming furiously.

ELDER ORSON PRATT,

He said polygamy was one of the chief tenants of the Mormon religion; if that was away the religion would be destroyed. These remarks were received with loud cheers from all parts of the house, and cries of "thats so, we won't."

The chaplain attempted to remonstrate, but the students stoned him away. On Saturday the Governor of Havana visited the University and demanded of the medical class the names of the culprits, but all of the students remained silent, and the case was then turned over to the court. Several students then testified, and six members of the class were found guilty and sent to prison. The court temporarily detained forty-two others, who are suspected of complicity in the act. The court is working actively in the case, and with the aid of the authorities will soon have before it all the guilty ones, who will be punished as severely as the law permits.

Shortly after the parade yesterday irregular groups of volunteers assembled and soon assumed large proportions. One body, numbering several hundred, assembled before the palace, another before the Tacon Theatre, a third around the jail, all demanding the lives of the young men found desecrating of Gonzalo Castano's grave. Crowds of volunteers running through the streets were ordered to join their companions, and shouts of "Death to the traitors" were given Acting Captain-General Crespeo positively refused to deliver up the prisoners stating that the law must take its course. About 11 p m. the volunteer officers got their men in order and under control of the battalion marching towards the jail, and at 2 o'clock this morning a court martial, composed of officers of the regular and volunteer forces assembled to try the prisers. The courtmartial is still in session. The city is quiet, and the volunteers continue guarding the jail awaiting the result of the trial.

ROME, Nov 27.

For the first time since the occupation of Rome, the Italian parliament met in this city to-day. The opening speech was delivered in person by His Majesty, King Victor Emmanuel. In commencing he alluded to the events connected with their occupation of the city, and said that Italy restored to herself, had reconquered her place in the world. He was convinced that Rome would remain the seat of the Pontificate. The relations between Italy and all other nations are friendly, and he believed that peace would continue, but he warned the parliament that they would be held to strict account in the future if they neglected to perfect the thorough reorganization of the military and naval forces of the kingdom.

Money and Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.

Gold is dull and steady at 110¾@111.

Loans were made at from 1 to 3 per cent for carrying.

The daily clearings of the Gold Exchange Bank were ab ut $17,750,000

Governments are quiet and steady. The sickness of the Prince of Wales attracts attention here, for the reason that his death might be followed by political disturbances in England, which could not fail to affect the English markets and indirectly our own.

The stock market opened weak and so continued till after the first board, when it began to improve, and was strong until the afternoon, when it became heavy with a general decline in prices. There was more pressure to sell, and the decline ranged from ½ to 1¾, it being most marked in Northwestern common, Wabash, Rock Island, St Paul common and Ohios. The principal dealings of the day were in Northwestern common, Wabash, Rock Island and Ohios. Chicago & Northwest-rn declared their annual dividend of 3½ per cent on preferred stock, and passed the dividend on common stock. This action created considerable disappointment, and in connection with increased activity in money, had much to do with the change in speculative feeling from bull to bear.

Money this morning was easy at 5@6 per cent. Later in the day loans were made as high as 7 per cent gold.

Southern state securities on last call were higher in new South Carolinas, without much change in other bonds.

MR. H. L. NUSE will return from Europe in the course of a few weeks with a large assortment of jewelry, watches, etc., of the newest and most fashionable patterns. He is now in Paris.

THE CORRY OIL WELL.—Another well is to be put down at Corry to test the territory before abandoning it. Some of the stockholders in the old well have forfeited their stock by refusing to pay for or take it, and it is to be sold at auction next Friday evening, at the Downer House.

MANNING'S MINSTRELS.—A fair house witnessed the performance of this company at the Opera-house last evening. The bill was well chosen, Ricardo as inimitable as ever, the singing good, and many of the hits new; but those who ought to know, say there is something missing in the company as compared with their last performance in this city.

FRASER'S MINSTRELS.—To-night this celebrated company of minstrels from the Arch street opera house, Philadelphia, give their first performance in this city, and we are assured by those who are familiar with their programme for this season, that they give one of the very best exhibitions of minstrelsy and pantomime, to be found among traveling companies. Besides a first-class cornet band, they have added several novelties in the way of stage attractions, and those who do not laugh at the comicalities set forth by those artists in "scorched cork," are beyond the reach of anything funny that has yet been invented.

REV. DR S. FALK, of Buffalo, New York, delivered an eloquent lecture before the members of Simeon Lodge No. 81, I. O. B. B, Sunday, November, 26th, 1871. The reverend gentleman chose for his theme the fundamental principles advocated by the order, and by the able manner in which he handled the subject plainly showed his thorough appreciation of the same. The hall was filled to the utmost by the members and their ladies, who listened to the lecture with wrapt attention, and although Dr. Falk spoke nearly one hour and a half the most profound interest was manifested in the conclusion.

The Reverend Doctor and family will remain here a few days as the guests of our townsman, David Harris, Esq., and will visit some of our extensive oil fields.

AN INTRESTING LAW CASE.—On Wednesday next an interesting case will come up in the Court of Common Pleas of this county, sitting in equity, being an application for an injunction on the part of N. R. Bates, plaintiff, and the City of Titusville, defendant.

Our citizens are aware that the Common Council of Titusville, in October last, passed an ordinance authorizing the widening and shifting the location, or changing the curve of Perry street, between the premises owned and occupied by A. H. Bronson on the right, and the premises popularly known as Abbott Grove, or a portion of the same, on the left of said street. Mr. Bates has applied for an injunction to restrain such proceedings on the part of the city authorities, the grounds of which are fully set forth in the bill of complaint given in another column, duly sworn to by the plaintiff.

The situation can be fully comprehended by most of our city readers without the illustration of diagrams. The plaintiff will contend that the change proposed is highly injurious to his property, and amounts to the taking of his private property for private purposes, and therefore is illegal and unjustifiable, while the counsel for defendants will contend that the city has absolute power and discretion in laying out, widening, straightening streets, etc., when the public interests demand it, and that this case falls within that category.

Should the application be granted for a preliminary injunction an answer will be put in and the case finally heard on its merits before a master, on whose report a final injunction will be allowed or the bill will be dismissed by the court.

ATTENTION FIREMEN!—There will be a special meeting of the Board of Officers of the Titusville Fire Department this evening, at Colonel Drake's hall, at half-past seven o'clock. All are requested to attend. By order of

B. BOSCH, Chief.

WE advertise no goods but those we have in stock, and the prices are lower than ever. STRAUSS & STETTHEIMER.

NEW USE FOR BENZINE.—Bysulphide of carbon has of late years been extensively used for extracting oils from the seed, in preference to the old method of the hot and cold press; first because a large quantity is thus obtained, and second, because the article comes out in a purer state. The spirit of petroleum, or the ordinary rectified benzine of commerce, has been found to answer the purpose even better than the bysulphide of carbon. The flavor and aroma are preserved intact, and it is more economical. Benzine can also be applied to the removal of fat from bones, in place of the old process of boiling. The bones are thus left perfectly white and clean, in which condition they are admirably adapted to the manufacture of knife-handles, &c, and they take colors more readily, and the yield of glue is increased. The oil and fat can at once be applied to the manufacture of soap or candles, without further purification. This new method is much more economical and cleanly, than the wasteful and disgusting method of boiling fat in the cities. When it is considered to what an enormous extent this branch of manufacture is carried on, there is a great hope, that at last we have found a commercial outlet to this now much abused refuse of petroleum, which will eventually raise its value beyond that of refined oil. This is the only effectual method of checking the reprehensible and dangerous practice of adulterating safe kerosene with benzine. It would be a matter of policy both for city corporations, and insurance companies to encourage this new branch of industry by purchasing ground at a safe distance from populated districts, and giving it free to all parties who may choose to invest capital in the business. It is also to the interest of every property holder in the country to confine the use of benzine to localities where those parties only who understand its dangerous properties, and will consequently take the necessary precautions against accident, can use it. As every one has more or less interest in this matter, from the oil producer and refiner to the poorest citizen who uses kerosene for illuminating purposes, it is to be hoped that this new use for benzine will be stimulated until the enhanced price of that article will drive it from crowded cities to more safe localities. It is not kerosene oil which is dangerous, it is the cheap benzine with which it is adulterated. We are not aware whether this new use for benzine is patented, but if it is, the country can afford to pay the patentee a fair remuneration, and allow men desiring to enter the business, free use of the process.

THE WILL OF A TESTATOR DEFEATED.—The late Aristarchus Champion, the Rochester millionaire, who was an eccentric old bachelor and a whimsical philanthropist, left the great bulk of his fortune to religious societies. His relations in Connecticut are trying to break the testator's will. The old gentleman was very old and executed the paper shortly before his death, and the plea set up will, it is understood, be insanity or undue influence. The Rochester Union states that the legacies are likely to be defeated, or a certain portion of them, in which case we presume the Eastern relatives of the deceased may get hold of a good deal of property. The Union says:

We [erred in a late number of our paper by saying that this gentleman devised half his estate to the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. The legacy was to the "Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America." He donated the other half to the American Bible Society, of which he was a Vice President.

By an act passed in this state some years ago certain religious societies were debarred from receiving legacies bequeathed less than sixty days previous to the donor's decease. This law prevents the Bible Society from receiving any part of the legacy located in this state. A special act in the charter of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions allows them to receive such legacies when the whole annual income does not exceed $20,000. Other state laws, where most of Mr. Champion's lands were located, may be free from such restrictions.

A NEW PYROMETER SUITABLE FOR REFINERS.—Refiners have for some time been looking for a pyrometer suitable to determine the temperature of their stills while running. As the distillation of oil is chiefly a question of temperature, the want of a good pyrometer has been severely felt. A most ingenious and simple instrument for the purpose has recently been invented in Germany. It works on the principle that the resistance of metals to the galvanic current is directly as their temperature. The resistance of a platinum wire having been determined, it is insulated by winding it round refractory clay, and then covering it over with the same material. The ends are connected with a two-cell Daniels battery, and also with a galvanometer for indicating the resistance. The beauty of the arrangement is its economy of construction, and the accuracy and delicacy of its indications. By this means, any temperature below that of melting platina can be recorded.

A VALUABLE IMPROVEMENT IN GAS MAKING.—A new principle for manufacturing coal gas, which has been recently patented in England and France, is creating a great amount of interest, and is claimed to have been eminently successful. The coal is distilled at a low temperature similar to that used in manufacturing shale oil. The oil is then vaporized, and the vapor passed first over incandescent charcoal, and then through iron retorts heated to the ordinary temperature. The two combined gases are stated to be equal to thirty per cent. more in quantity, and to possess fifty per cent. greater illuminating power than can be produced from the same weight of coal by any other known process. Extensive preparations are in progress for adopting the principle in Europe.

THE NEW YORK BAZAR—M. GROSSMAYER.—Mr. M Grossmayer, lately from New York city, has one of the largest clothing stores in the oil regions. Its location is in the Corinthian Hall building. His stock embraces gents' clothing for men and boys, gents' furnishing goods, umbrellas, trunks, notions, etc. He is receiving fresh goods every day. Having lately been engaged in the dry goods trade in New York city he has a large stock left over which he is now closing out at a great sacrifice. Give him a call.

THE regular weekly rehearsal of the Mendelssohn society will be held this Tuesday evening in the chapel of the Episcopal church, on Main street.

In the Court of Common Pleas of Crawford County.

SITTING IN EQUITY—BETWEEN N. R. BATES, PLAINTIFF, AND THE CITY OF TITUSVILLE, DEFENDANT.

To the Honorable, the Judges of said Court: Your Orator complains and says:

1. That he is a resident of the city of Titusville, and owner of a certain lot of land therein, containing about three and a half acres, bounded on the east by the head or north end on Perry street, and by a public street or road extending in a northerly direction from the junction of Union street with the head of Perry street, which lot of ground is more fully located and described on a plot or diagram hereto annexed and made part of this bill, marked exhibit "A."

2. Said lot of ground is beautifully located on a gently rising eminence, at the head of Perry street, and has thereon a natural grove of great value, and has been and is designed by your orator for the site of a mansion house, or family residence, surrounded by his said grounds, the beauty, convenience and value of which will depend much on preserving the boundaries of said lot as they are, and the trees thereon of natural growth, especially those on or near the eastern border of the lot.

3. Your orator in 1865 became owner of the undivided moiety of said premises, (and afterwards sole owner of the entirety), under a deed conveying the same by the courses and distances along said eastern border, shown on exhibit "A," conforming substantially to the middle linetof said public street road, as marked on the map of said city, drawn and published by John P. Culver, town surveyor, which map is herein referred to as a public document.

4 That said road has been laid out and used as a public highway for more than twenty-one years past, and the diagram hereto annexed, marked exhibit "B," shows its location and width, as it has been graded, and used by the public, from the junction of said Perry and Union streets to the northern boundary of said city.

5. Said diagram "B" shows also the centre line of said public road or traveled way, as opened and used as aforesaid, and designates by dotted lines the sides of said road or street if opened fifty feet wide, or twenty-five feet each way from said centre-line.

6 On or about the first of May, 1870, C. F. Lufkin, who was then the owner of a lot in said city, on the opposite side of said public road or street, from the said lot of your orator, and located as shown on the diagram hereto annexed, marked exhibit "B," erected an expensive dwelling house thereon, in such a position that the front of the house stands only twenty-five feet from the centre line of said street, thus leaving no room for a yard or enclosure in front of said house, in case said road or street should be opened the full width of twenty-five feet each way from its centre

7. At and before the time said Lufkin commenced his building, your orator notified and warned him that he was setting his house on the line of where the street would be when opened full width, and that he could not have a front yard or enclosure without setting his house farther back, or moving the street out of its place over on your orator's grounds; but said Lufkin disregarded said caution, and went on building his house as herein before located.

8. About the month of March, 1871, A H. Bronson, well knowing the matters hereinbefore set forth, purchased said house and lot from said C. F. Lufkin, and continues to hold and occupy the same.

9. Soon after making said purchase, said. H. Bronson began to set measures on foot to secure the passage of an ordinance of the Common Council of said city, to take a portion of your orator's land and give it to said Bronson, by moving the said street so far over on your orator's said lot as to vacate a portion of the ground now covered by said street in front of said Bronson's house, and add it to his (Bronson's) lot.

10. Said Bronson has so far succeeded in effecting his said object, that on the 25th of October, 1871, through his procurement, the Common Council of said city passed an ordinance entitled, "An ordinance for the widening and straightening of Union street, at the head of Perry street," a copy of which ordinance is hereunto annexed and made part of this bill, and marked exhibit "C."

11. A copy of the plan of said street, as made by the City Surveyor, is hereto annexed, and marked exhibit "D," showing the proposed alteration in the location of said street.

12. The diagram hereto annexed, marked exhibit "B," shows how much of your orator's property would be taken from him, and how much would be added to the lot of said Bronson, by carrying into effect the said ordinance, and your orator further shows that the opening and grading of the said proposed change of street to the line indicated, would destroy considerably more of your orator's property than is shown on the diagram, inasmuch as the surface of said lot rises towards the west from the present line of the street, involving the necessity of deep cutting on your orator's land to bring the proposed change of street to grade.

13. The shifting of the said street to the westward, as shown on the plan, and the necessary eloping of the bank beyond that, caused by the deep cutting above referred to, would not only deprive your orator of a large quantity of his most valuable land for the purposes mentioned in paragraph two of this bill, but would remove and destroy many of the valuable trees of natural growth, mentioned in said second paragraph.

14 The said proposed alteration, if carried into effect by the authorities of said city, would work grievous and irreparable injury to your orator, and would be, as your orator conceives, illegal in taking your orator's property for private use, inasmuch as the public good does not require, and would not be promoted by said change, which will be made, if made at all, solely in the interest of private individuals; and said ordinance is otherwise illegal and void.

15. The officers and agents of defendant intend and threaten to carry into effect the said ordinance, contrary to law, equity and the constitutional rights of your orator; wherefore your orator needs equitable relief in the premises, and he therefore prays:

First.—That the said defendant, its officers and agents, and every of them, be restrained by injunction, from this honorable Court, special and preliminary until hearing, and perpetual thereafter, from carrying into effect the said ordinance, or any ordinance of the same or similar import and effect, and from entering upon the aforesaid premises of your orator for the purpose of moving said street or public highway, now bounding the said premises on the east, further westward upon the said grounds of your orator.

Second.—That your orator may have such other and further relief as to your Honors shall seem meet, and justice and equity demand.

EXHIBIT "C."

AN ORDINANCE FOR THE WIDENING AND STRAIGHTENING OF UNION STREET, AT THE HEAD OF PERRY STREET.

Be it enacted and ordained by the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Titusville, and it is hereby enacted and ordained by the authority of the same:

That the west line of Union street, in said City of Titusville, be located and established as follows, viz: To begin at a post standing in the west line of Perry street, 478 16-100 feet north of the north line of Oak street, from thence running northerly, deflecting six degrees thirty-two minutes west from the said west line of Perry street 104 18-100 feet to a post, thence from said last described line as a tangent, curving westerly with a radius of 450 feet, 258 25 100 feet to a post, thence in a straight line, tangent to the last described curve, 38 54-100 feet to a post, thence from said line as a tangent, curving easterly with radius of 250 feet, 134 17-100 feet to a post, thence in a straight line tangent to the last described curve, 213 14-100 feet, to a post standing in or near the north line of said City of Titusville.

The east line of said street to be parallel to and fifty feet distant from the west line above described.

Provided, Parties benefited by the change are willing to bear the expenses of grading, excavating and widening said street, after the city has removed what earth it may need, for city purpose, or after, in the judgment of the Council, the city has borne such expense as is right and proper.

The entire work of said grading, excavating, etc., to be done under the direction of the said Street Committee and Street Commissioners.

Passed finally in Council October 25, 1871.

Attest—GEORGE A. CHASE.
J. A. CADWALLADER,

Approved October 26, 1871.

Swindling in Oil.

SOMETHING ABOUT GAUGE MARKS—SHARP PRACTICE SOMEWHERE—HOW SOME DEALERS CAN UNDERSELL—AND HOW THE RETAIL DEALERS SUFFER.

From the Pittsburgh Gazette of Friday.

Within a few days past a new swindle has developed itself—a swindle in oil—which serves as a pleasurably exciting topic for discussion just now by the Duquesne Way dealers. From what can be ascertained from those who profess to know all about it, there is not the slightest doubt but that those whose duty it is would find an investigation of facts profitable and eminently agreeable to the victims of the fraud—the retail dealers.

It seems that a firm in this city, refined oil dealers, finding themselves undersold, and knowing that they could produce the fluid cheaper than the successful underbidder, commenced a quiet investigation. They managed matters quietly for several weeks until the facts and proofs were in their possession, and the result satisfied them that a swindle was being perpetrated upon the retail dealers. They found it managed through the aid of false gauging, and by a very simple process—all done by a "twist of the wrist" of the gauger who marks on the barrels from one to three gallons more than they actually contain. The firm in question arrived at this truth by purchasing a lot of barrels with suspicious marks and found them branded as holding from 46 to 48½ gallons of oil.

A careful regauge, however, proved that none of them could possibly contain over forty-six gallons when filled to the bung-hole, while the majority were only forty-three gallon barrels. In the lot there was an average all through of about two gallons in each barrel gained by the false gauge.

This swindle, though so very transparent when explained, would not be easily detected by the unsuspecting. The oil when once gauged, passes perhaps from one wholesale dealer to another without a regauge, and thence to the retail dealer who deals it out in pints and quarts, and who perhaps never knows whether he has lost or not, who contents himself with believing that it is all right in the gauge, and hence does not discover that he has been the victim of a fraud through which he loses all his supposed profit on the barrel.

It can easily be seen how a wholesale dealer indulges in such tricks can undersell an honest rival and gain the trade—so long as his swindling is not exposed. And even if exposed, he might hide behind the gauge marks, and the gauger could plead "a mistake," and if the matter was "fixed up" promptly, everything could be made quiet again. Thus far, however, the retailers have been suffering, without knowing it, and the dishonest wholesale dealers have been reveling in the profits.

The lot of barrels through which this fraud was developed, it is said, are now in the city, in the possession of the firm who ferreted out the fraud.

NEW MUSIC AND MUSICAL ALBUM.—Robert M. Dewitt, 33 Rose street, New York, has just issued the following pieces of music, and a Musical Album. "If Ever I Cease to Love." A capital air, but rendered intensely ludicrous and popular by the facility it affords for introducing local couplets interminably.—"Upon the Danube River" A very beautiful barcarole, full of melody. "His Heart is True to Poll." An irresistably comical affair, both as regards words and music, affording a happy opportunity for a musical burlesque of the extravagantly sentimental. "Touch the Harp Gently, My Pretty Louise." By all odds the sweetest piece of melody that the famous Blamphin has favored us with. "Where Shall I Take My Bride." A beautiful air, full of originality and tender sentiment."

The above five pieces (words and music) are the bright particular gems that sparkle in the burlesque of "Blue Beard," as rendered by the famous Lydia Thompson troupe. These songs are respectively Nos. 151, 152, 153, 154 and 155, of De Witts Half Dime Music; each piece of which is sold at the low price of five cents, although fully comparing in correctness and elegance of printing with the finest music sheets. "The 'Heathen Chinee' Musical Album." In addition to fourteen very choice comic songs (words and music) in this handsomely printed volume, it contains Bret Harte's famous poem of the Heathen Chinee, set to a very apt, characteristic and taking tune, by Henry Tucker, author of "When this Cruel War is Over." A really humorous design, in brilliant colors, prepares one for the fun inside. This book is but fifty cents. The music alone, at regular prices, would cost five times that sum.

SPEAKING of the economy of repairs the Scientific American says:—In making repairs it is often thought a poor mechanic will do just as well as better and more costly skill. No greater mistake can be committed. We assert that the mechanical ingenuity, ready command of resources, knowledge of the adaptability of means to ends, skill of eye and hand, common sense, and sound judgment—which go to make up an accomplished mechanic—are more necessary in a repair shop than anywhere else. Here it is not the same old routine, day after day, the making and putting together of forms so familiar as to require little original thought; but every job varies in some particular from every other, and each must be repaired in a different way. It requires brains as well as manual skill to do this kind of work in a creditable manner, and every manufacturer will find it policy to put a first class mechanic in his repair shop.

A CARD.

Editors Morning Herald:

I desire to contradict the statement made in yesterday's Courier, that the City of Titusville hose cart was on the ground fifteen minutes before the other companies, at the fire in Moreland's Refinery last Sunday evening. This hose cart was the last on the ground. The Colonel Drake Company, and the Eagle Hose Company, had two lines of hose laid before the City of Titusville Company made their appearance.

Would the settling of the foundation of a building cause the outer wall to bulge between the first and second floors, as the testimony develops was the case in the Roberts Block?

Can any one say that the foundation of the Roberts Block has settled at all? Not a foot of the foundation of the east wall has been exposed to view as yet.

Is there any evidence that the bottom of the cellar was covered to the depth of a single inch with water from the sewer trench?

The Chicago fire has, at last advices, proved more disastrous to the companies represented there than at first reported. The result of which is that many of the older companies have been obliged to retire from business until a full and detailed report may be had of their liabilities, and in consideration of these facts I have at a great expense and labor secured a few more companies not represented in Chicago, and who lose nothing by the fire, and by this means I am enabled to offer to my patrons and the public reliable and safe insurance at adequate rates. TO THE PUBLIC.—The numerous failures among insurance companies throughout the United States, consequent upon the recent Chicago fire, have created a general and somewhat exaggerated feeling of distrust as to the reliability of all companies affected by that calamity.

In order to relieve this doubt, so far as it applies to them; the Niagara and Republic Fire Insurance companies, of New York, invited an official investigation of their condition, the result of which appears in the following certificate:

The True Grounds of Confidence.—Whence comes that firm reliance, that absolute undoubting faith in the efficacy of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a remedy for indigestion, bilious disorders, intermittent and remittent fevers, which notoriously prevail in all parts of the United States? This confidence has been growing for twenty years, and is still extending. It is not the result of credulity; it has not been engendered by any human device, but is the spontaneous and natural consequence of experience. What people see daily going on under their own eyes they cannot question. When families in unhealthy districts, that resort to this wholesome vegetable tonic as a preventive, escape periodical fevers, and their immediate neighbors, who neglect that precaution, are prostrated by disease, how is it possible that the phenomenon should be without its lesson! In like manner when it is seen that obstinate cases of dyspepsia, of liver complaint, of constipation, of nervous weakness, and of general debility, yield to the operation of the famous remedy, how can even incredulity itself withhold its endorsement? Eye-witnesses of the salutary effects of the bitters are to be found in every civilized settlement on this continent. The thousands upon thousands who owe their restored health and strength, or their preservation from sickness to its extraordinary medicinal properties, are enthusiastic in its praise. The multitudes who recommend it in a neighborly way to their friends and acquaintances, as well as those who make public their estimate of its virtues, are always ready to state their reasons for the faith that is in them. They have all either felt or witnessed its beneficent operations.

The Pennsylvania Transportation Company having succeeded to the business of the Allegheny Transportation Company, and the Commonwealth Oil and Pipe Company, all orders for oil should hereafter be made upon the Pennsylvania Transportation Company, who will make good any of the accepted orders of either the Allegheny Transportation Company or the Commonwealth Oil and Pipe Company.

Attention Ladies.

MRS. W. W. CHASE, Odd Fellows' Block, corner Pine and Franklin street, Titusville, Pa., has secured the right to use Royer's New System for cutting Garments, in the counties of Crawford, Warren, Venango and Mercer

This invention consists of five different plates. No. 1 cuts ladies' and misses' dresses, and No. 2 five styles of vests, men's and boys' Nos. 3 and 4 cut boys' coats and pants, and No. 5 will cut the most perfect fitting skirt in the world.

This system would be invaluable to ladies sewing by the day and week

Titusville Morning Herald.

The Mace and Coburn Fight.

The New Orleans Times of November 19th says: As the day fixed for this great fistic contest draws near the interest increases, and already it is the all-absorbing topic among the admirers of the manly art of self-defence. A large number of sporting men and representatives of the press from all sections have arrived, and by this time next week the influx will be "fearful to behold." Coburn is gradually getting into fine condition, and promises to appear in the ring in excellent trim. Mace will arrive in town this week, and will take up his headquarters at Emil Holbern's, No. 17, St. Charles street (which will also be the headquarters of Coburn and his friends.) Jem's colors have just been received from New York, and are on exhibition at Emil's. They consist of a white handkerchief with a blue border, the centre bearing the motto, "May the best man win." In the respective corners are a red rose, a shield, American ensign and letters "J. M." Coburn's colors are not yet publicly known, but, having been sent, will be displayed at the same place on Monday. Reports from both men give assurance that the fight is bound to take place, as they manifest a determination in the matter which carries conviction. In New York the betting is in favor of Mace at the odds of five to one, while here wagers have been made of two and three to one. From present indications this contest will be a memorable one, and it is estimated that it will be witnessed by more people than have ever collected upon a similar occasion.

The New York Sun says Mr. Mace's weight is 174 pounds. Mr. Joseph Coburn, in a letter to a friend in this city, says: "I told you in a former letter Johnny Dwyer had left me. The weather was so warm he could not bear the hard work with me which was necessary to get me in condition. I have engaged Tom McAlpine. He suits me, as he is a good walker. I am training at Dan. Hickok's, six miles from New Orleans, in very healthy place. I never felt better in my life or more confident of success. I will not change my colors, but stick to the bridge that has always carried me over. Two trains are to be run from New Orleans to the fighting ground, which will probably be near Kennetsville. They will carry 5,000 persons each at ten dollars a ticket. Admission to the ring is to be two dollars."

ANOTHER

Valuable Invention

For Oil Wells.

CATES' PATENT

BACK SUCTION PREVENTIVE,

Which entirely prevents the ingress of air into oil wells while the tubing is being drawn.

It is a well known fact to oil well operators that upon wells where gas pumps are used, it is necessary to preserve as nearly a perfect vacuum as possible, and that no air should be let into the well at any time when it can possibly be avoided, consequently whenever the tubing is drawn from a well, it is the cause of great injury to it, as the stuffing box being then necessarily opened, the air immediately rushes back between the tubing and casing into the well, going into the oil rock and gas veins, and consequently causing the oil and gas to rush back to a great distance. It almost always takes several days after pumping is resumed for a well to be brought back to its former condition, and oftentimes it takes several weeks, and quite frequently wells have been almost completely ruined by the air being thus let in while drawing tubing.

The Back Suction Preventive is attached to the stuffing box, and works in such a way that it completely shuts up the space between the stuffing box and tubing so effectually that not a particle of air can get through at any time while the tubing is being drawn and replaced.

It supplies a want long felt and is without question one of the most valuable inventions of the day to those engaged in the oil producing business. No well should be without one, as it oftentimes saves ten times its cost by once using.

It is manufactured and for sale at the Foundry and Machine Shop of
